Passcode: 800585

The PWR LIO March quarterly meeting theme is focused on fish passage barriers. Local leaders in this sector have been invited to share projects and programs that aim to remove barriers for fish, improving the overall health of the ecosystem. We also have time to share additional projects from all LIO members – please bring your projects, questions, and ideas to the call!

Time	Topic	Speakers
12:00 PM (5 min.)	Networking and Getting Settled	All
12:05 PM (5 min.)	Welcome, Purpose and Agenda Review	Cindy Haverkamp, PWR LIO Chair
12:10 PM (30 min.)	WSU-Extension Research on the Effects of 6-PPD on Salmon This session will provide insight into the research conducted at WSU-Extension on coho-toxicology. Graduate Student, Nathan Ivy will share the effects of 6-PPD on salmon particularly during spring rainstorms. Understanding the timing of high-level contaminants can help inform hatcheries on when to avoid releasing fish into environments with heightened risk.	Nathan Ivy, Washington State University Extension
12:40 PM (30 min.)	WSDOT Fish Passage Barrier Efforts to Improve Fish Migration in Washington Fish Passage Delivery Engineer Liz Winter will provide an overview of fish passage barrier removal projects led by WSDOT in Pierce County. This will include a history of fish passage in Washington State that led to the barrier removal projects as well as a look into the performance of the barrier correction projects.	Liz Winter, Washington State Department of Transportation
1:10 PM (30 min.)	Pierce County Culvert Inventory Program This session will provide an overview of the Pierce County Planning & Public Works (PPW) Strategic Plan Initiative for the Vibrant Communities Mission to Remove Fish Passage Barriers. This work includes a needs assessment and mapping of fish barrier removal projects, developing a county-wide salmon recovery strategy, and developing a prioritized list of culvert replacement projects for Pierce County.	Sean Goldsmith, Pierce County
